

WILL BURY ECKERT IN OLD CATACOMB

Civil War Telegraphers to Attend Funeral To-day.

New York, Oct. 21.—Attended by the surviving members of his staff of civil war telegraphers, the body of Gen. Thomas T. Eckert, for many years president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and head of the military telegraph under Lincoln, will be removed tomorrow to the catacombs provided for it by the deceased during his lifetime, beneath the Old Cathedral of St. Patrick in Mott street.

In this rarest of tombs, which is lighted with electricity and is said to have cost Gen. Eckert $80,000, he will be laid away with simple ceremony. In all probability this will be the last burial in New York's famous catacombs, built 100 years ago after ancient Roman models, in which are interred a strangely mixed company of the city's former celebrities, including the original Delmonico, Charles O'Connor, once partner of Samuel Tilden, "Honest John" Kelly, and the founder of Colwell Hall.

Prominent telegraphers from all parts of the United States, including Thomas A. Edison and Patrick H. Delany, the two most prominent living American telegraphers, are expected to follow the cortege to the Cathedral. The deceased was to the administrative side of telegraphy when these two men have been to the inventive side. Their friendship, which began forty years ago, when in conjunction with Col. William H. Eckert, a brother of the general, they began experiments in rapid telegraphy, out of which Delany, in later years, evolved his Teletype automatic system, has continued uninterrupted ever since.

Every branch of the telegrapher's art and every era of its development from the primitive days of Morse before the war to the modern automatic will be represented at the obsequies, which will bring together the greatest number of men associated with the growth of the American telegraph since the funeral of Samuel F. B. Morse in this city on April 5, 1872.

WILL ASK A RECOUNT.

Tacoma Residents to Appeal Directly to President Taft.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 21.—T. E. Ripley, William Jones, and Allen C. Mason left tonight on the Oriental Limited for Washington to protest to President Taft, Secretary Nagel, and Director Durand against the census returns as announced Saturday and to request a recount.

At the suggestion of Mayor Pawcett, the city commissioners to-day directed Judge Theodore L. Stiles, city attorney, to proceed to Washington at once, to act as attorney for the citizens' committee.

Mayor Pawcett or Gov. Hay, and perhaps both, will request the Census Bureau to furnish a complete list of names contained in the Tacoma census for checking purposes. This course may be waived if the recount is granted.

CANADA WELCOMES CRUISER.

Salute of Twenty-one Guns for the Niobe at Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 21.—The cruiser Niobe, the first of the Canadian navy, arrived in port to-day and was given a warm welcome. Bunting was generally displayed in town, on the water front, and on the shipping. The cruiser came to anchor at 1 o'clock and this was the signal for a salute of twenty-one guns, fired from the cruiser and the citadel simultaneously.

Gov. MacGregor presented a handsome cablegram, given to the cruiser by the government of Nova Scotia. Beside it was a massive cup and tray presented by Lord Strathcona, and near by was a silver white ensign. The chief feature of the proceedings after the presentation was the address by Mr. Brodeur, the Canadian minister of marine.

THE SAFE PLAN.

When things go wrong and I get mad, and all the world seems grim and sad, I do not let my cranky mood bring gloom into my neighborhood. I do not snarl and snap at folks who don't deserve malicious pokes. I have a scheme that's really slick, and it relieves me pretty quick. You've heard of Gessler, that old soul who hung his lid upon a pole? When I feel mean I climb his frame; the way I roast him is a shame. "That blamed old Gessler," I remark, "he was a pirate and a shark; he'd rob a widow of her shote, or steal the whiskers from a goat, or burn a church or kill a cop, or burglarize a blacksmith shop. Such men as Gessler should be drowned, or locked up in the village pound, or boiled in tar and kerosene, or drawn and quartered on the green. I have no use for any chump who hangs his hat upon a stump, expecting gets like William Tell to get down on their knees and yell." When I've abused old Gessler thus, and raised a nice and harmless fuss, I feel as genuine relief as though I'd brought a lot of grief to those around me; so, my lad, abuse old Gessler when you're mad!

WALT MASON.

HEART and HOME TALKS by Barbara Boyd

Over in New York they had a household exposition some time ago, in which everything that has to do with the running of the home had a showing. By no means the least important part of the home machinery is the maid in the kitchen, and this feature was very ably covered by the offering of a prize for the woman with the record of longest continued service. The maid who had won had been thirty-five years in one family. Think of it! Thirty-five years! And there were others in the family, too! A prize scarcely seems enough. She should have had a few crowns and halos thrown in as extras.

The reporters of course, buzzed about her. No trophies brought back from Africa were ever half so rare. In the interviews she said some things in regard to domestic service that are well worth the attention of every woman wrestling with the servant-girl problem. "The mistress makes the maid," says this holder of the prize. "The mistress who doesn't send back the first dirty dish is making a poor servant. But there's a way to send it back," she further added, naively.

"Knowing how to do things well has a lot to do with liking housework," she also observed. She believes in taking a satisfaction in one's work. She baked pies and cakes, she said, that everybody talked about, and she believes this is just as worth while as making a dress or writing a book that people talk about. She took pride in her reputation as a cook.

In regard to long hours, she said her hours were no longer than a mother's, and she believed if a maid looked upon her place as her home, she would neither mind long hours nor children.

There is a lot in what this woman says, both for maids and for mistresses. Evidently this maid and mistress pulled together. They were partners for the common good of the home. They were ranged on the same side in the fight against dirt and waste.

The spirit to-day between many a mistress and maid is that of enmity. They are opponents. Instead of partners. The mistress regards the maid suspiciously and is ready to believe she will be wasteful, lazy; that she will break all the dishes she can; possibly steal.

The maid regards the mistress as one who is going to scold, nag, and get all the work out of her possible. Both are on the defensive.

Unfortunately, sad experiences have brought about this attitude of mind on the part of each.

But the home spirit can be cultivated in the maid. She can be made to feel that the mistress is with her, not against her. Even the sending back of a dirty dish can be done in such a way that the maid knows it is really for her own sake and that the mistress wants to train her into good work. She can be taught to take satisfaction in well-done work, when the worth of thoroughness is put to her in the right way. And she can be made to feel that if she proves worthy, she will be looked upon as one of the family.

Such an effort, to be sure, may be wasted on some, but the majority of women floating from one "place" to another would respond to it when they saw the mistress was really in earnest and had their comfort and happiness genuinely at heart. The feeling of responsibility would be the unseen anchor to hold this new sensation of satisfaction in their work sure and steady.

CENSUS TO GIVE DIVORCE RECORD

So Declares C. F. Willoughby at Statisticians' Banquet.

The divorce evil will be clearly set forth before the public through the agency of the present decennial census, according to Charles F. Willoughby, assistant director of the Census Bureau, who delivered the main address at the annual banquet of the American Statistical Association, held at the Ebbitt House last evening.

One simple question affecting the entire range of vital statistics has been added to the present enumeration, he declared. Married women are required to state whether they are divorcees or not, and the number of their divorces in the matrimonial game. The divorce statistics of the census will be one of the most salient features of the tabulation.

O. P. Austin, chief of the Bureau of Statistics, was toastmaster. He made a brief speech in which he laid stress upon the fact that manufacturers, and not agricultural products, are rapidly reaching a dominant place in the exports of the United States.

Oscar T. Crosby gave the final address upon "A method of statistical analysis." Following the reading of papers there was a general discussion and routine business.

LEWIS OPENS CAMPAIGN.

Democratic Candidate Addresses Crowd at Old Germantown.

Rockville, Md., Oct. 21.—David J. Lewis, Democratic candidate for Congress in this district, addressed a large gathering at Old Germantown this evening, the occasion marking the opening of the Democratic Congressional campaign in this county. Mr. Lewis will speak at Gaithersburg to-morrow evening, and during his ten-day stay in this county will also address meetings at Damascus, Travilah, Rockville, Kensington, Coleville, Chevy Chase, and Poolesville. The Rockville meeting will be next Tuesday afternoon, and will be the big meeting of the campaign. The other meetings will be at night.

A change was made in Col. Roosevelt's itinerary to-day. He will speak in Brooklyn on the night of October 29 instead of November 1. On November 1 he will talk in Buffalo.

That Sale of Men's and Youths' SUITS

The Baltimore Makers' Stocks That Came To Us Through a Firm Readjustment.

The crowds of men who came are an indication of the extraordinary character of the bargains in this phenomenal purchase. Harris Silverman & Sons have been famed among clothing buyers for many years for the high grade of their product. A readjustment of their firm, due to the entering of a new partner, the incorporation of the business, and the change in the firm name to the AMERICAN CLOTHING MFG. CO., made it necessary to immediately close out the stocks—and as we were among their oldest and best customers we were given the chance to take them over.

Here's the way it goes:

Men's and Young Men's Suits	$12.50	$6.75
Men's and Young Men's Suits	$20.00	$12.75
Men's and Youths' Suits	$20.00 and $22.50	$16.75
Men's and Young Men's Suits	$25.00	$19.75
Men's and Youths' Suits	$27.50 and $30.00	$22.75

WINS AEROPLANE SUIT.

Purchaser Wants Engine Delivered or His Money Refunded.

Mineola, Long Island, Oct. 21.—An aeroplane suit came up in the Supreme Court session here to-day. William H. Patterson, it is alleged, gave an order to the Varriman Motor Works, of South Glastonbury, Conn., for a motor to place in his completed aeroplane.

Weeks elapsed, and when the motor did not appear Patterson claims he demanded his $50, which he had paid on deposit. When the sum was refused he brought suit, and to-day received a verdict for the $50, together with costs, amounting to $100.

Israel Ludlow, who was crippled for life while trying to learn to fly, was Patterson's lawyer.

ELKINS CRITICALLY ILL.

No Credence Given Reports that Senator Is Improving.

Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 21.—Notwithstanding the reports that are being given by Col. George F. Snyder, the private secretary of Senator S. B. Elkins, to the effect that the condition of the Senator is not at all serious, the general impression here is that the Senator is critically ill.

Col. Snyder to-day said that there was nothing at all alarming about the condition of Mr. Elkins, but that he was simply taking a rest from all his business worries. There are two specialists at the bedside of the Senator, and in addition, there are three special nurses. He is at Hazelhurst, his magnificent home near here, and even members of his family are prohibited from entering the room. There has been a general feeling of uneasiness about the whole system, and the physician demands that he be not disturbed.

All the members of his family have been called home. The Senator had been ailing for several months, and for the past three months has been taking a rest. A week ago there came a turn for the worse, and since that time his condition has been exceedingly serious.

KETCHELL'S FIANCEE ILL.

Grief Over Death Makes Miss Bovine Attempt Suicide.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 21.—Grief over the death of Stanley Ketchell, the pugilist, whom she was engaged to marry last spring, has so unsettled Miss Jewel Bovine, of Chicago, that she has suffered a nervous collapse and has attempted suicide four times.

The last attempt was made yesterday when she was returned from the hospital in a carriage with her, discovered the young woman raising a vial of carbolic acid to her lips.

It is said to have been through Miss Bovine's influence that Ketchell recently joined the Western Temperance Union, and she is credited with having caused a remarkable change in the young man's manner of living.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

WRITTEN BY WILLIAM C. FREEMAN.

There is appearing in the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION the MOST REMARKABLE SERIES OF ADVERTISEMENTS ever printed, written by MR. J. S. JONAS. They are the advertisements of the CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON-DUBOSE CO., of Atlanta.

The first advertisement started with a PERSONAL HISTORY of the firm's business, dating back several years, when Mr. Jonas was first employed by them as advertising writer.

PERSONAL HISTORY—little incidents in the lives of great merchants—forms the most interesting kind of reading. It's HOME TALK TO HOME PEOPLE, in a community where everybody knows everybody else and where everybody is interested in everybody else.

There is not much merchandise description with prices. It is mostly heart talk—human interest talk about a firm that is known as a big and successful dry goods house. It is the sort of reading that people want.

By the time Mr. Jonas gets fully into the swing of things—by the time people fully realize what his purpose is, everybody will wake up in Atlanta some morning and unite in saying:

"We have always known that CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON-DUBOSE CO. is a great firm, but we never realized before how very great it is—how careful it always is to give us a SQUARE DEAL."

Merchants differ as to how they shall advertise. Most of them think that just a brief description of their merchandise with prices attached is all that is necessary.

Many others, however, think that advertising should be a method of FRIENDLY LETTER WRITING on the part of the store to the people. The list of the latter is growing.

Mr. Jonas, a true Southerner, with the fine, soft, seductive flow of eloquent language so common with the intelligent Southerners, is giving readers of newspapers in Atlanta a rare treat.

He came North a few years ago to try his hand at advertising. He did well, was well paid and well liked, but the call of the old firm and the old home was too strong for him, so he has gone back to Atlanta, and will reveal in the opportunity his old firm has given him to talk in newspapers as he has always wanted to talk.

Advertising managers in all parts of the country, and firms that do advertising, should subscribe to the Atlanta Constitution and read the brilliant efforts of Mr. Jonas.

What wonderful work a genius can do when "he is given the bit!"
